Health Care Matters: Leading the way for Minnesota

*A monthly column by Allen Horn, MD
CentraCare Clinic President*

At some point, we all may need the care of trained medical personnel ranging from something small and routine to something life-threatening. CentraCare Health System's (CCHS) new vision states we will be the very best place in Minnesota for patients to receive health care. CCHS President Terry Pladson, MD, described where we are going as an organization when he announced the new CCHS vision: "CentraCare Health System will be the leader in Minnesota for quality, safety, service and value."

I'm excited by this vision even though some have protested that this is simply not possible in Minnesota. But, why wouldn't we want to be the best? Why would we want to work really hard to be second best? I'm convinced we can be the leader in Minnesota because of the talent, dedication and commitment to caring repeatedly demonstrated by the people of our organization.

Everyone matters – and every thing we do matters as we strive to achieve this vision. We all should believe that our personal contributions are important to becoming the best. Collectively, we can take an important step toward achieving our vision by demonstrating our belief in the CCHS core values of being patient-centered; having integrity in everything we do; working collaboratively with others; letting compassion guide our service to patients, other customers and each other; and being careful stewards of the finite health care resources available to us.

As we give our personal best to fulfill the CCHS mission of working to improve the health of every patient, every day, our contribution will make the difference in someone's life and health. The payoff will be personal growth, increased job satisfaction and the knowledge that we provide the best care for our patients, families and communities.

I would enjoy hearing your comments, ideas or questions. Please send them to Dr. Allen Horn, CentraCare Clinic Administration.

The Case for Service: Patient feedback

Access to care: "I was so excited to get the postcard regarding walk-in care. The next day, I headed to CentraCare with two sick babies. The staff got us in within about 30-45 minutes. I was so grateful. When I got home, I read the postcard again and realized that 'walk-in' hours started the following week! Sorry for showing up without an appointment and thank you for being so kind anyway!"

The visit: "I am very satisfied with CentraCare. Everyone is friendly and helpful which puts me at ease and makes me less nervous."

The care provider: "Talking to Dr. Mallory was like talking to my best friend."

"Dr. Mitchell was very thorough, listened carefully and made me feel very comfortable. He was interested in hearing my thoughts and concerns. I felt valued."

The nurse/assistant: "Dr. Keating's nurse was wonderful with my child. It is evident she LOVES her job!"

Personal issues: "I usually receive test results by phone within 48 hours followed by mailed results. Excellent."

Overall assessment: "The clinic operates in an efficient and low-stress manner. I often don't feel like I'm at a clinic!"

Health care home collaborative begins

On March 5, more than 75 CentraCare providers, employees and patients met to begin work on a health care home collaborative. The goal is to offer patient- and family-centered care, as well as better coordinated care for complex patients with multiple conditions. Each clinic site has designated patient partners to provide critical input from the patient perspective.

DIAMOND program expansion

Thanks to the success of DIAMOND (Depression Improvement Across Minnesota, Offering a New Direction) in Melrose, the program has been expanded to other CentraCare Clinic primary care sites.
